

Rocky Mountain Honors Camp

CAMP DRESS CODE

At Rocky Mountain Honors Camp we want everything we do to glorify the Lord, and that includes the way we dress (1 Cor. 10:31). Modesty and appropriateness in a distraction-free environment is the goal for everyone's week at camp!

Please take the time to review our Dress Code so that you will choose clothes that will be right for camp. Here's the deal: Campers/staff who choose to wear outfits that are too tight, too loose, or too short will be asked to change. Ugh! The following policies need to be followed by campers, counselors, and staff alike. Though your clothing choices may be comfortable for you, they may make others uncomfortable; therefore, please take the time to read this!

- Shirts and shoes or sandals must always be worn when outdoors or in a public setting.
- Athletic (closed toe) shoes must be worn for all activities.
- Flannel pants/pajama pants are only acceptable for bedtime/cabin wearing.
- No tank tops, halter tops, low necklines, sleeveless tops, or narrow/string-type straps.
- Shorts, skirts and dresses must be modest. We use the "fingertip" rule (when standing straight up with hands straight down, shorts must be longer than their fingertips, but no shorter than 3-4 inches above the knee). We understand that all body types are different, and IF the "fingertip" rule does not appear to keep you modest you will be asked to change. Note from a tall girl camper: I bought my shorts in the men's department as they are longer and work well for me! Check it out!
- All clothing must be loose fitting (no yoga/spandex/tight clothing).
- No skin may show between pants and shirt (raise your arms to make sure). Low rise/sagging pants or shorts are not allowed. Ripped pants have the same "fingertip" rule (no upper thigh holes).
- Do not wear clothing that reveals your underwear (that's a no-brainer).
- Offensive clothing with inappropriate language, or something not honoring to God is not allowed.
- Body piercing jewelry (other than earrings for females) are not allowed – please use a clear spacer for any body piercings other than earrings – you will be asked to remove piercings outside of bedtime, if visible.
- Tattoos – We do not promote for or against tattoos but expect tattoos to be covered with clothing or a wrap/bandage.

If there is a question about an article of clothing, your counselor or a staff member will speak to you about it privately asking you to change. In all cases, the word of the Camp Director will be final.

Thank you for following the Dress Code. It makes it a lot easier and way more fun for everyone!

